

Abstract

In order to increase the long-term stability of the exhaust catalyst of an internal combustion engine, the exhaust gas is purified with respect to volatile phosphorus compounds before entering the catalyst.

SUB
B4

10027977 122801